

North American Transport and Logistics Operator Cover Liability, equipment and property insurance for transport and logistics operators

North American Transport & Logistics Operator Cover

The role of the transport operator has evolved over the years with increasing competition and changing regulatory frameworks, especially as more businesses move into the field of logistics. Consequently, companies are exposed to ever greater liabilities.

Companies who operate freight services by sea, road, air, rail or river are included in this category of insured and therefore, encompass:

- Freight forwarding
- Railway or stack train operations
- NVOCs
- Inland waterway operators
- Trailer operators
- Parcel carriers
- Tank or container operators
- Air freight carriers
- Warehouse/depot operators
- Truckers
- Property Brokers
- Truck Brokers
- Custom Brokers
- Distribution facilities

The range of risks covered by the TT Club minimises the need to buy separate covers. A single package can be tailored to specific needs, reducing gaps and overlaps in cover, and protecting you on a worldwide basis.

Wherever cargo is being transported, the practical and legal difficulties that may arise when dealing with claims can be handled efficiently by the TT Club's global network of offices and partners.

Standard covers include:

- Cargo liabilities
- Errors and omissions
- General liabilities
- Fines for regulatory breach including eg customs, pollution and safety at work
- Costs including misdirection, investigation, defence, disposal and mitigation
- Motor truck cargo cover
- Warehousemen's legal cover

Property covers include:

- Buildings and terminals
- Building contents
- Docks and wharfs
- Warehouses
- Dolphins
- Machinery
- Handling equipment
- Locomotives and rolling stock
- Rail and road infrastructure

Additional covers may include:

- Extended contractual liabilities
- FMC bonds for NVOCs
- Business interruption
- General average and salvage guarantees and contributions
